you to define all possible attributes, like file type, path and dimensions of a picture, with a simple point and click.
[PlasmaKwick] will help you: * Generate a PDF file (with transparent background) from your scanned document. * Create a JPG (or PNG) file from a GIF or TIF file. * Automatically convert your file to an ISO image. * Insert your document in a standard size booklet. * Convert your document in one of many standard book formats (8.5" x 11", 8.5" x 14", A4, A3, A5, etc). * Reorganize your pages and change the layout of your booklet. * Print your document as JPG or PDF files. *
Compress your documents with the LZW algorithm. * Read the text from your document and put it in a text file. * Draw on your page with a mouse. * Open a text file and display its content. * Save a text file in a compressed format. * Drag and drop a file to your project. * Upload your file to the Internet via FTP. How to Use: After downloading the appropriate version for your operating system, run the setup application, select the component that you want to install, and click next. After a wizard is finished, click the next button. The installer will start the component installation.
How to: * Create, customize, and edit your own skins. * Add skin support for existing UI components. * Extend the existing skin support by including custom components. *
